In Memoriam

In loving memory of Edna W. Baldwin, who passed away 41 years ago, February 2, 1933.

Although you've been gone for quite awhile,
You're thought about so often still my love for you still lingers on and God knows it always will.

God called you away so suddenly, but trust in God keeps easing the pain,
So I accept His grace each day, and realize these things must be.

Sadly missed by daughter.

In Memoriam

On the fifth day of November 1973 Robert B. Crawford departed his life on earth. His death was a great loss to his associates of the Virginia Education Fund and his many friends within and throughout the State of Virginia.

Dedicated to the premises that both children and adults should have freedom of choice in choosing their friends and associates, Bob Crawford sparked the founding of the Virginia Education Fund, which he served for many years of Executive Director. In 1958 he instigated the first fund drive in the name of the Virginia Education Fund to support the parents and citizens of Front Royal, Va., in their desire to furnish private education to the children there in face of public school closings.

Crisis after crisis arose, but "Col. Bob" as he was affectionately known, with his keen mind and good humor, was always there to bolster sagging spirits and to restore morale.

Before Bob Crawford's interest in and labors for private education, he had given as generously of his time to public education in Prince Edward County, having served as President of the Virginia School Trustee Association. There were many other areas of interest in the life of this outstanding man. He was Virginia Department Commander of the American Legion, a leader in the Boy Scouts and recipient of the Silver Beaver Award, an elder in his church, and a charter member of the Farmville Rotary Club.

We, the Board members of the Virginia Education Fund, remember him for the remarkable part he took in helping the parents and children of our State during very difficult times . . . times when resistance could have been violent rather constructive. His devotion to his State and the people he loved reflected the highest credit upon him and upon his native Virginia. 2-7-1p

Fidelity American Bankshares

January 29, 1974.....Fidelity American Bankshares, Inc., has reported consolidated income before securities gains and losses of $4,717,000 or $1.96 per share for the comparable 1972 period. Daily average deposits for 1973 increased 25% to $594.4 million. Daily loan averages were $417 million, up 34.9% over the previous year. During the fourth quarter, net income before securities gains and losses amounted to $1.234 million, or a decline of 3.6%. On a per share basis, income before securities gains and losses was 51c for the fourth quarter of 1972, resulting in a 8.9% decline.

Harris said earnings growth was slowed by the high cost of funds to the corporation and start up costs incurred in several bank-related companies. Improved profit margins should result from easier money market conditions in 1974.

Fidelity American Bankshares, Inc., a registered bank holding company with $756.4 million in total assets, has 13 banks and 7 bank-related financial service companies operating in Virginia and the Southeast.

PURITAN PULPIT

THE SUBSTITUTE

Everyone knows something about substitution. A lady cooking and finding she is missing a condiment for her recipe will substitute certain other ingredients. A man knows that a substitute in sports is a man who takes another's position when he goes out of the game. We have salt substitutes, sugar substitutes, etc.

Not long ago there was a celebration in Tel Aviv, Israel. They were commemorating something that had happened 29 years before in war torn Europe. In the village of Dolhinov there lived a Jew named Yosef Kramer. Mr. Kramer had built a bunker near his home in the event that the Germans would attack. The day came when the country was invaded and the Germans were hunting down and shooting all Jews on sight in the area. Mr. Kramer and his family had hidden in the bunker along with the other Jews. There was a total of 47. Yosef held his 18 month old son. As the soldiers approached the house, the baby suddenly started crying extremely loud. All eyes turned to Mr. Kramer, who hesitated for a long, anguished moment and then strangled his son. With the limp body in his arms it was evident that this father had paid a great price when he substituted his 18 month old son for the lives of 46 people. This event that has haunted the man ever since was commemorated by the ones whose lives were saved by a father's great sacrifice.

Around 2000 years ago there was a Father who sent his only son to be hated, ridiculed, persecuted and crucified as a substitute to pay the penalty of sin for the one now writing this article. Yes, God's holy Son became a sin-bearer, my sin-bearer. He who knew no sin was made sin for me that I might be made the righteousness of God in Him. I who deserve the wrath of God for my sins against a Holy God, I have been adopted into God's family because of the Lord Jesus and His willingness to die in my place for my sins. Greater love has no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends.

Just to think what a victorious Savior Christ is. It is evident, for everyone whose place he took goes free from the wages of their sin and death. The law of substitution is that if another pay your debt it is paid and can never be demanded again. Evidence that Christ has taken someone's place is seen in that they believe and seek a holy life.

Notice the cost to the Substitute. "He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief...he hath born OUR griefs, and carried OUR sorrows: Yet...stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for OUR transgressions, he was bruised for OUR iniquities: the chastisement of OUR peace was upon him; and with His stripes WE are healed...the LORD hath laid on Him the iniquity of US all. He was oppressed and he was afflicted...he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter...so he opened not his mouth. He was taken from prison and judgment...he was cut off out of the land of the living: for the transgression of MY PEOPLE was he stricken...he made his grave with the wicked...he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth. Yet it pleased the LORD to bruise him; he hath put him to grief: when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin...He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify MANY; for he shall bear THEIR iniquities...he hath poured out his soul unto death: and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of MANY...Isa. 53. WHAT A SAVIOR! Is He yours?

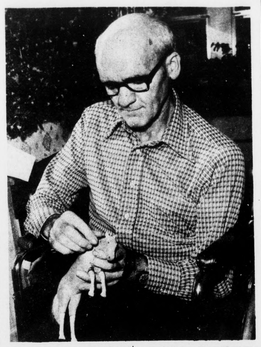
Knife Says All

Buckingham Craftsman Thinks With His Hands



E. F. Higgins, of Buckingham County, loves to carve in his spare time. With the exception of "reading everything he can get hold of on the subject," he has had no formal training in the art.

by Julia Horner

He takes an ordinary pocket-knife and an ordinary block of wood in his hands and he operates.

There is magic in his operations, magic that produces forms that results in figures that cause wonder with their impeccable detail and smooth lines.

A quiet man, a calm man, he lives in an unobtrusive bungalow nestled among the trees on the smooth and rolling farmlands in Buckingham County. "I take the time to observe the beauty of life that surrounds me," he said. "People go so fast that they don't take time to see, to reflect. So much passes them by."

Higgins has not worked since he was confined to a wheelchair last May but he stays busy carving. He carves whatever strikes his fancy and sometimes by special order.

His most recent handicraft is a race car which a friend of his, a boy, asked him to make. The car is the length of an average hand and is painted bright blue with red wheels.

When asked where he acquired his skill he said, "I don't know. I have always loved a knife. I have been whittling and carving wood since I was a boy. But nobody has ever taught me anything about it and nobody in my family carved."

Reminiscing about his childhood he smiled, his blue eyes twinkling, and said, "My brother used to take the things that I made to school and claim them as his own. We still laugh about that."

"It takes approximately, a month to complete a piece," he said. "I get my ideas from magazines and catalogues but I prefer to work with live models. A piece-like this one reveals no dimensions making it difficult to know how much to leave on the wood. With live models, you get more feeling of emotions."

He continued, "My favorite kind of wood is walnut. it doesn't take as long to carve on soft wood like cedar or pine but it is not as satisfactory because it splits."

Explaining the process involved in carving wooden figures, Higgins said, "I snap a mental picture of what I want to do in a block of wood. I take away the waste - a little here, a little there - until I have what I like. I etch out the details; then I sandpaper it, shelac it, and rub it with wax for a hand finish."

He has wielded his little knife seven times since May - and the results are - from walnut - a cat sitting, a pair of quail, a turkey... two models of ships, "America", and "The Eagle," two fruit bowls, and a model of Robert E. Lee's horse, Traveller, from white birch.

Sitting in his living room, glancing at his work and reflecting on it, he said, "I saw the schooners in a catalogue and frankly, I wanted to buy ready - to-assemble models but they were too expensive so I copied the picture.
